

THE K-A BONNIER INTERNATIONAL FELLOWS PROGRAM

The K-A Bonnier International Fellows Program (KAB-IFP) is an exclusive scholarship program created in collaboration with the Stockholm School of Economics (SSE) and the National University of Singapore (NUS) aiming to promote business development between Southeast Asia and the Nordic countries.

This highly selective scholarship program offers up to four (4) exceptionally qualified students the opportunity to earn two distinguished master's degrees within two years of studies, as well as an internship, a mentor and membership in a future highly selective alumni community.

The KAB-IFP combines a Master of Science in Business & Management at SSE with a Master of Science Management Program at NUS, and is specifically targeted towards students with a passion for entrepreneurship and SME growth in these parts of the world.

By studying both in Sweden and Singapore, students will gain a better understanding of the theory and reality of doing business in two very different regions, which also provides excellent opportunities to develop business as well as personal networks. Ultimately the program's ambition is to help exceptionally talented students acquire the knowledge and tools needed to succeed in an entrepreneurial context.

One important part of the program is a six to eight-week internship where students move out of the classroom in order to learn from the experiences of real companies. The internship occurs during the summer break (6-8 weeks) in between the academic semesters, with an option to do longer internships (12 months) throughout the year*.

THE INTERNSHIP

The internship is an opportunity for students to put their extensive theoretical knowledge into action, thereby contributing to both their own personal growth and the development of your organization. Our goal is that the intern will grow into a vital part of your work team.

Students are prepared before the internship so that they can take on meaningful tasks in existing projects from day one. By working with you and quickly adapting to your unique setting we hope that the interns will add new perspectives, perform tasks that you yourselves do not always have the opportunity to take on, and learn from being a part of your environment. By seeing their own efforts contributing to actual business processes, interns often learn invaluable lessons.

Organizations that join the program by offering either summer or year-long term internships will gain first hand access to top students with a passion and knowledge for entrepreneurship and management, with the prospect of recruiting prominent members to your organization.

WHAT IS REQUIRED FROM YOU?

We trust that you will provide challenging and relevant work tasks or project for the interns, appropriate to their qualifications and skills. Embedded in this is an evaluation of their work and internship projects.

You will also need to provide a contact for the intern within your organization, for practical issues related to the internship.

In return, your company will receive multiple benefits from the internship program, such as access to top students with the prospect of meeting future recruitment and growth needs and brand exposure through your connection with SSE and NUS.
